Years of Experience in the Eastern States

Selling goods on close margins is something the average California merchant is chary of reading. They laugh at the pennies, but the pennies make the dollars, and everything must go 'round them.

Cents for Ball's Health Corsets,

Which is a saving of 20 of those bright pennies, and it will buy 9 spools of COTTON-ITE. A good many of these little items go to make up a vast amount of saving at the end of the year.

Never Since Our Advent in Business

—HAS THE—

PEOPLE'S STORE

Known Such a Volume of Business

DURING THE MONTH OF JULY.

We have exceeded the expectations of our business, and the result has been beyond our utmost anticipation. There is no use talking, the people know when and where they can get bargains. Our Summer Goods are fast coming to a close. No wonder! Goods that sold for 25c marked down to 12½c.

THE PEOPLE'S STORE

Success is mainly due to the fearless slaughter of Goods that its proprietor did not find necessary at the close of every season, to enable them to go into the market with ready cash in hand to take advantage of what it offers, instead of coming with crestfallen mien and a heavy stock of Summer Goods in and like our neighbors, and in an imploring manner and poverty-stricken tone beg for Goods on credit. Go and trade with a house that is Straightforward and Honest.

Go to a house that advertises an article and when you come there you will find it on sale. Go to the PEOPLE'S STORE. It has withstood the broadside of all the attacks of its scurrilous neighbors, and its flag floats defiantly in the breeze.

Prosperity Greets It Daily.

It has not swerved to the right nor to the left. It minds its own business, and in doing that it keeps proprietors and employes as busy as it can be. Every day new evidences and reasons are shown why you should trade at the PEOPLE'S STORE. If you drop in this week and see our Cheap Goods you will be astonished.

AMERICAN FRUIT EVAPORATOR!

The most practical and reliable Fruit Evaporator made. It gives unobstructed hot air currents ABOVE and BELOW all fruit, thus insuring evenness of drying and no spoiled fruit. Beware of infringements. THE AMERICAN is pre-eminently the fruit-raisers' machine. Its sizes grade from domestic to manufacturing wants. It makes the highest quality of work with ordinary care in handling. There is no need of making anything else. Though we approve a slight use of sulphur, the AMERICAN is specially adapted for highest grade in unbleached work. It places fresh cut fruit first in highest and dryest heat; cures cut surfaces at once and keeps them dry, thereby setting and making permanent the color, and also thereby, as in broiling steaks, securing the highest quality in product. We place our experience in everything at the disposal of our customers. In some cases this gratuitous service is of more value than prices paid us for evaporators. Sold by

A Home for Health, Pleasure and Profit!

HEALTH

PROFIT

Four Hundred feet above the city with the most perfect natural sewerage, tempered with a delightful sea-breeze, and a sanitarium for persons with weak lungs, asthma and kindred diseases. This is verified by actual residents on the tract.

The most delightfully located tract as to natural scenery, climate and convenience to city and mountains; on the only good carriage road in the county, and those who know say it is a real pleasure to live in such a location,

Now we do strike you. This tract is (or will be August 1st) connected by steam direct with Commercial street Depot. Rapid Transit is the key to all successful suburban residences, and this place will be within 10 minutes spot to spot of the Courthouse.

The difference in TAXES of a home on this tract (it is outside city limits) and one in the city will pay the owner's fare to and from the city during the year. It brings you as near the business center as you would be at Twelfth street. You can own a lot large enough to keep a cow and chickens, grow some fruit, keep the boys at home off the streets, live at home with your family visible, enjoy life, and live a long, happy and useful life, and make money by it.

THE PLACE is HIGHLAND PARK, just four miles from the Courthouse, on the new Los Angeles and San Gabriel Valley Railway, and on the direct road to Pasadena, and must be looked over to be fully appreciated. Lots for sale in any size to suit, at prices that will command attention.

Graduate of Victoria College, Toronto, Ontario, Member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario; for three years Associate Physician of the Chicago and Cincinnati Nervous and Lung Institutes; for fifteen years, and still, proprietor of the Detroit Throat and Lung Institute; also Associate Physician in and for the State of Michigan, and for several years Proprietor of the Ontario Pulmonary Institute and Health Resort at Toronto, Ontario. Over 60,000 cases treated by us during the past nineteen years.

In order to show how successfully lung diseases can be cured when properly treated, we give the testimonial of one who is well and favorably known by many of the people of Los Angeles. From Rev. L. R. Fiske, D. D., President Alden College, Albion, Mich., formerly pastor of Cookeia; H. E. Church, Detroit, Mich., and editor of the Christian Advocate.

DAYTON, Mich., Sept. 22, 1877.

DR. WILLIAMS—Dear Sir: I am glad to add my testimony to the efficacy of the treatment my son has received. In the Spring of 1877, my son, then at the age of 20, was suffering from a severe affection of the bronchial tubes and lungs, so as to be compelled to keep his room, and the most of the time his bed. Within the space of two weeks he experienced about a dozen hemorrhages, from which the physicians attended had but little hope of relief. I applied to you who responded him with the following conditions, which offered an immediate arrest of the bleeding, and which has never occurred since he began the inhalation. Respectfully, H. PARK.

DISEASES OF THE RECTUM

Female and Chronic Diseases a Specialty.

Rectal Ulcers, Hemorrhoids or Piles Fissure, Fistula in Ano, Fruritare or so-called Itching Piles, Polypus Recti Successfully Treated by Dr. A. W. Brinkerhoff's System of Specialties.

A SURE AND PAINLESS SYSTEM FOR the cure of Hemorrhoids without cutting, ligating, burning, taking medicine or detention from business. No anesthetics used. Over 25,000 operations for piles and not one death. The knife, ligature, ecraseur, hot iron and the cruel carbolic treatment are the means in use to-day for the treatment of Piles.

We can treat you without using any of these barbarities and guarantee a cure in every case.

Thousands die annually from what is called CONSUMPTION, Bronchitis, heart, liver, kidney diseases, etc., while the cause is unknown, hidden, never brought to light. We ask the sick and suffering to investigate the cause of the same bank, affected kidneys, vaginal, womb, urinary, heart, lung, stomach, liver and head troubles; rheumatism, benumbed limbs and bloated abdomen, dyspepsia, biliousness and tendency to malaria, and they will find RECTAL ULCERATION the hidden monster—the foe to human health and happiness.

The existence of Rectal Ulcers is as old as the race, and suppress from time to time have written of them, but have been unable to SEE THEM. We have instruments by which the rectum can be clearly and intelligently examined, and without pain or danger to the patient. The invention of these instruments by Dr. A. W. BRINKERHOFF, of Upper Sandusky, Ohio, has opened wide the door to the successful treatment of this malady, and has established the fact, after examining more than twenty thousand patients suffering with all the various complaints found in chronic diseases of both sexes, that Rectal Ulcerables existed in every case. With our system of treatment we cure the ulceration. If not too far advanced, and the train of symptoms and misery disappear.

Come and investigate! Our practice is not experimental, our labor not guess work. We know what we see. Charges reasonable.

The Times.

Office—Temple, Main and New High.

No less than six sudden deaths are reported as occurring in Los Angeles county Sunday and Monday, four of which were in this city. One death is attributed to suicide, one to murder, one to heart disease, one to apoplexy and the two others were from unknown causes. This is an unusual record.

Unless the ocean traffic between San Francisco and Australia is kindly taken up by some English company, or by Claus Spreckels's line, it is probable that there will be no direct communication between the two points after November 1st proximo. It is announced on the authority of Spreckels that the Pacific Mail line will surely be withdrawn on the date named.

Sacramento, which has been making unkind allusions of late about the hot weather in Los Angeles, got a blast from the fiery furnace yesterday which sent the thermometer up to 105 degrees in the shade. Los Angeles did pretty well, thank you, with the thermometer at 95. A great many people of both Sacramento and Yuma are finding that Los Angeles is a pleasant summer resort, and as they melt out of those places they naturally run hitherward.

In the appointment of new Consuls to South American countries, an effort is to be made to send such men as can grasp the commercial situation and do something to promote trade with the United States. Trade with South America is the real panacea for our depressed industries and overloaded markets. The country produces more than it can consume, and the surplus must be sold somewhere;—the southern half of this hemisphere is the likeliest as it is the nearest market.

The citizens of San Francisco do not propose to fall behind other cities, on the day of General Grant's funeral, in their testimonials of respect to the nation's great soldier. The indications now are that the parade will be one of the grandest demonstrations ever seen on this Coast; greater even than the warm and generous welcome extended to General Grant by that city as he returned, covered with honors, to his native land.

Sabbath School Workers.

The La Ballona Township Convention held in Santa Monica last Sunday was quite a success. The programme advertised was carried out with the exception of the topic, "The Obligations of the Community to the Sabbath School Work," assigned to Rev. W. B. Stradley. In his absence Rev. W. L. Bocher, of this city, opened the topic. The various topics were well handled and the discussions spirited. The attendance was quite good. Among those who took part in the discussions were Reverends W. L. Bocher, Healy, James; Lay Members Miss Smith, Mrs. Healy, Dr. Manning, G. D. Rosa, F. D. Barnum, W. B. Blackman, Geo. Hall, Mr. Healy. The following were elected to serve one year as officers of the Township Association: P. D. Barnum, President; Miss Irene H. Smith, Vice President; W. r. Tibbetts, Secretary; Miss Neena Dunn, Treasurer.

Childs Tract Improvement Club.

The lot holders of the Childs tract, now organized into an Improvement Club, held a meeting at Opera Hall yesterday afternoon. Col. C. H. Howland was called to the chair, and John Hall was made Secretary. After the approval of the minutes of last meeting, the Chairman stated that it was in order to elect a permanent President and Secretary, whereupon there were elected Colonel H. H. Boyce, President and A. C. Jones, Secretary.

The permanent Committee on Improvements, consisting of C. H. Howland, John Hall and A. F. Mackey, were continued in office.

A resolution instructing the Committee on Improvements to prepare specifications and advertise for proposals to construct a plank sidewalk and fence was unanimously passed.

N. G. C. Orders.

The following comes from General Headquarters, N. G. C.

GEN'L. HD'QT'S. STATE OF CALIFORNIA.
ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE.
SACRAMENTO, July 27, '85.)

GENERAL ORDERS, NO. 19.

The sorrow, so universally expressed by the citizens of the United States, at the death of the great soldier and ex-President General U. S. Grant, is fully shared in by the National Guard of California.

It is therefore ordered that the armories of the National Guard, and the colors of the several commands, be draped in mourning for thirty days, and all officers will wear the usual badge of mourning for the same period.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

GEORGE B. COSBY,
Adjutant-General.

(Official:)
L. S. BUTLER,
Maj. and Asst. Adj't Gen'l.

The Historical Society.

The Historical Society of Southern California held their regular monthly meeting last night at their room in Nadeau Block. The President, General Mansfield, being absent from the city, his mantle fell upon the shoulders of the oldest Vice-President of the Society, Colonel J. J. Warner, who presided with his accustomed dignity. The society received as a present from the Historical and Philosophical Society of Cincinnati, Ohio, two volumes of the Diary of David Zeisberger, a Moravian missionary among the Indians of Ohio, 1778-1794. The society received new members, transacted the usual business and then adjourned, to meet the first Monday in September.

New Winery.

Crank & Brigdon broke ground for their new winery yesterday. It is to be located on a piece of land lately purchased from Philip Engel, on the main thoroughfare leading along the north of L. J. Rose's place, and near the Craigue & Grogan tract. It will be convenient to the line of the new Los Angeles and San Gabriel Valley Railroad—so close in fact, that a switch to the winery can be constructed with slight expense. It is understood that the building is to be 100x140 feet. The contract is to push it to completion in thirty days, so that this year's crop of grapes may be worked up.

STATE AND COAST.

The Santa Barbara Press says Don Anastacio Carrillo has on exhibition at his place of business a "little" tomato, which measures 16½ inches around and tips the scales at two pounds.

The San Luis Tribune states that memorial services will be held on the 8th of August at San Luis Obispo.

The water supply of Alameda is to be increased, at the suggestion of Chief Krauth, who cannot quench a fire with the present supply, owing to the lack of pressure.

The Lompoc Record says: The amount of poultry shipped from Lompoc during the year is quite an item in the list of our products. There are 80 dozen shipped on each steamer from Lompoc Landing to San Francisco; and about as many, probably go by way of Gaviota.

A CYCLONE.

It Sweeps Up the Delaware River,

WRECKING TWO VESSELS IN ITS COURSE.

Camden and Philadelphia Visited—A Ferry-boat Swept Clean to the Water's Edge—Miraculous Escapes.

Associated Press Dispatches to the Times.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 3.—It is raining so heavily here to-day that Jones's Falls overflowed, and Harrison street and the Center Market space is inundated to the depth of two feet. Cellars are flooded in the western section of the city. At Frederick City the creek overflowed its banks, and residents in the depressed portions of the city were all driven from their homes.

SMYRNA, Del., Aug. 3.—A terrible cyclone visited this section this afternoon, totally destroying property for miles, in a path three hundred feet wide. Stock was killed and orchards, corn-fields, etc., destroyed. No lives are known to be lost.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—A terrific cyclone, sweeping up the Delaware river this afternoon, struck this city near Greenwich point, demolishing a portion of the works of the Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company, and injuring several employes. It then took its course across the river, wrecking the river-steamer Major Reybold and the ferry-boat Peerless. The storm blew Pilot Emory Townsend and Captain Eugene Beybold, of the steamer Beybold, into the river, drowning the former and painfully injuring the Captain. The Peerless was swept clean almost to the water's edge. When the Major Reybold left the dock for Salem, N. J., she had on board about fifty passengers, although, as no tickets were sold, it is impossible to ascertain the exact number. There were also about fourteen officers and deckhands. Of this number of people upon the wrecked boat it does not appear that any lives were lost, except that of the pilot, although it is possible that some of the passengers were washed off and lost. A steam tug coming up the river after the disaster reports that the body of a woman was seen for a few minutes floating near the spot where the cyclone struck the steamboat, but she sank out of sight and could not be found when the tug made search for her. B. L. Warner, one of the passengers, describes the scene: He was standing on the upper deck and saw the black storm approaching, but as it moved rather slowly he supposed it was a rain storm. When it struck the boat he ran to the lower deck and all the upper works were swept away like chaff. The confusion among the passengers was indescribable, several jumped into the river, but Warner believes all were rescued. While the cyclone was upon the vessel everything was black as the blackest night. Sofas were broken to splinters and carpets torn to shreds in the cabin, as if they had been paper. The cyclone, he thinks, lasted about a minute and after it passed the vessel rolled and pitched fearfully in the great waves and came near swamping her. The storm then passed over to the Jersey side, striking John Dialogue's ship yards, Kaign's Point, and destroying the buildings of the establishment. It then took its course along the New Jersey river, demolishing all buildings in its passage up to the bridge at Camden. At this point the cyclone took an easterly course to Fifth street, Camden, entering in its path all that section of the city between Second and Third streets to the Delaware river, which washes the northern section of the city. Passing over the river, skirting Petty's Island, the storm struck the city in that part of the 25th Ward, Philadelphia, known as Richmond. In its ravages in Camden scores of dwellings houses were unroofed and some of them blown down. The damage to business property along the river front was enormous. Hundreds of families were rendered homeless, and one victim, Charles Daisey, was killed outright. At the American Dredging Company's wharf another, Harry Stevens, had a leg cut off by a flying piece of timber, and he will probably die. The track of the storm through Richmond was marked with death and destruction. It was almost due north from the Fort Richmond coal wharves. About 150 dwelling houses were wrecked or badly damaged, to be rendered unfit for habitation, and 200 families were driven from their homes, to be cared for by neighbors. A number of persons were seriously, some fatally, injured. A girl of ten years, Lizzie McVeigh, was killed at her home, 1831 Melvale street, in sight of her mother, who was herself pinioned to the floor by falling rafters, a few feet from the dying child. The cyclone is described by those who witnessed its progress up the river as an immense black cone-shaped cloud, with its apex resting upon the water and the base mingling with the dark clouds, which hung in dense masses from the sky. It is impossible yet to estimate the amount of damage done.

Report from Hinmore.

BALTIMORE, August 3.—Advices from various points throughout the State show the storm to-day to have been the most disastrous that ever visited this section. The cyclone swept a path 200 yards in width through Cecil county. Houses, mills, and bridges were carried away. Trees were blown half a mile, and a loaded freight train, with all brakes down, was blown a mile along the track. Two men were badly injured by being struck with flying debris. Through Middletown valley very heavy damage is reported. The loss throughout the State is roughly estimated at $150,000 and may considerably exceed that sum.

Now It Appeared To John Dialogue.

John Dialogue, of Camden, whose works were destroyed, says: "Looking out of my door upon the river, I saw the tornado's approach. I could see the buildings of the Philadelphia Salt Works, on the Philadelphia side, going off like chaff. Then the storm struck the Major Reybold, which was partially abreast of my place. Portions of her upper works were carried fully 400 feet into the air. A tremendous roar preceded it. The morning fury resembled a dense mass of rolling black smoke, and it travelled within ten feet of the surface of the river. A singular phenomenon was witnessed not only by myself but by all my men in the yards. This was a large ball of fire, fully ten feet in diameter, which swiftly accompanied the storm cloud. After playing havoc with my establishment, I saw this ball of fire explode about 250 yards north of me with a report so terrible as to shake the very foundations of the buildings in my yards. Following this came a number of explosions, but with less force. All of the sky to the eastward was unusually bright, and had a sort of rainbow appearance. In fact, this was one of the most remarkable sights of the kind that I had ever seen. The ball of fire which exploded, I am satisfied, played the mischief at the American Dredging Company's place."

Short and Earl's three-story mill on Salmon street, Richmond, was completely wrecked and scattered in all directions. There were about eighty people employed at the mill, most of them young girls, and the effect was to throw them into a panic. A large number jumped from the second-story window, and were only slightly injured, while the others were hurled to the ground with the falling walls and struck by flying timbers and bricks. Before the storm the air was filled with flying debris and people, seeing the awful sight, fled in terror by hundreds to their cellars. The cyclone lasted between four and five minutes, and worked with terrific swiftness and power. It is a singular fact that flat-roofed houses suffered the most, the wind with greatest ease catching them under the cornice and lifting them as though they were sheets of paper. There is hardly an instance where a mansard roof of a building in its course was wrecked. So great was the violence of the wind that fronts and sides of houses and bay windows were smashed as though they were egg shells. Roofs were carried hundreds of yards away. Shade trees were mowed down like platoons of soldiery on the battle field. Monster trees that had stood the storms of years were uprooted or broken off like pipe stems. The eccentricities of the wind could be seen on every side. Buildings which it would seem an ordinary storm would demolish, and which were in the direct path of the storm, were spared, while their neighbors, modern structures of brick, would be gutted or wrecked outright.

IN READING.

READING, Aug. 3.—The rain this morning was very heavy and appeared like a cloud-burst. Many streets were filled with water from curb to curb. The cellars of many houses were flooded. Workmen were driven out of many foundries by water running into the working rooms. Great damage was done to orchards and to the tobacco crop.

THE LEAVEN WORKING.

The Editor of the Pall Mall Gazette Makes a Speech.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The revelations of the Pall Mall Gazette and the subsequent agitation by that paper of the necessity for suppressing the evils discovered have fairly convulsed the country. Immense meetings continue to be held daily throughout England. The Wesleyan conference at its session to-day unanimously passed resolutions of thanks to the Gazette for the thorough manner in which it had performed its good work. Similar resolutions are adopted almost daily by bodies representing all sects and creeds. A meeting was held in Cannon street to appoint a committee and perfect arrangements for a large demonstration in Hyde Park, to take place in about a fortnight. Among those present was William Stead, editor of the Gazette. Stead was introduced by the chairman and was cheered for fully five minutes before he was able to make himself heard. When partial quiet was restored, Stead made a stirring speech, occupying about half an hour. Among other things, he said it was the duty of every man and woman to calmly consider the iniquitous state of affairs which existed, and then to utter one loud "damn." No one could read the account of the disclosures without resorting to that word to give vent to his feelings, and any person who did not express his condemnation should himself be damned. The cheers that followed this utterance were deafening, men and women vying with each other in augmenting the din, and when the men were compelled by hoarseness to cease the yelling, woman still lifted their voices in approval of the sentiments of the speaker.

What Next They Must Have to Pay!

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Debate pro and con on the Pall Mall Gazette's action seem to increase in volume. High church guardians are very severe in their strictures, not even sparing the Mansion House Committee. An incident is related from the best possible source that the Archbishop of Canterbury showed his chief interest when the fact was developed that one of the principal bagnios was in Park Lane, which is the swellest locality in London. The Archbishop held up his hands in horror and amazement when assured that this was a fact, and exclaimed: "Why, just think what rent they have to pay!"

ENGLAND.

A Little Gossip About Chief Justice Coleridge.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The latest society sensation in London is caused by the announcement that Lord Chief Justice Coleridge is about to marry an American lady whom he first met on the steamer on which he returned from the United States three years ago, and who threatened to bring an action for breach of promise if he did not marry her. Society is much agitated over the approaching event. His Lordship's sons and daughters are said to be very angry.

POLITICAL AND LITERARY PUNDITS SUBPŒNED.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Mr. Turnbull, a Chicago barrister, has surprised political and literary pundits with an article in the Nineteenth Century, showing that the English government is really democratic, with the Commons dominating the Queen and Lords, while the United States government is really aristocratic. The President's veto power equals two-thirds of the legislators. The Senate, not popularly elective, fairly holds the Representatives in captivity, while the Supreme Court can set aside all statutes, if so disposed.

HOT.

A Terrific Wave That Swept Through the Middle of the State.

MEDICAL, Col., Aug. 3.—To-day and yesterday the weather has been the hottest ever experienced in this valley. Yesterday the thermometers varied in different points of the town from 104 to 110 degrees in the shade, and to-day from 106 to 114 in brick buildings. So far no sunstrokes or prostrations by heat have been reported, and the extreme heat has not proved injurious to sick persons confined to their beds, though the air was so hot throughout the day that to touch wood or metal in the shade was painful to one's fingers.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 3.—Sunday was the hottest day ever experienced in Sacramento, the thermometer reaching 105 degrees.

NAPA, Aug. 3.—Thermometer registered 104 degrees yesterday.

THE CHOLERA.

Smiting the Governor and the Convicts Alike.

MADRID, Aug. 3.—In the whole of Spain Sunday there were reported 3820 new cases of cholera and 1444 deaths.

The military Governor of Granada has succumbed to the pestilence. Cholera is raging in the convict settlement.

The Correspondencia Espana reports that five persons were suffocated while a house was being fumigated at Jaen. The cholera continues to spread in the new provinces.

MADRID, Aug. 3.—The number of new cases of cholera throughout Spain yesterday was 3317; deaths, 1364. In this city thirty-seven new cases and twenty-three deaths are reported.

The President and Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—It is probable that the President will visit Albany after the funeral of General Grant, and before he goes to the mountains. Secretary Manning, who will spend the month of August at Watch Hill, Conn., with his family, will probably accompany the President to Albany. It is expected that Secretary Lamar and Attorney General Garland will remain at the Mansion during the President's absence. Other members of the Cabinet will take vacations. Owing to the illness of Mrs. Bayard it is not expected that the Secretary of State will spend much of the summer season at Washington. Secretarys Endicott and Whitney and Postmaster General Vilas will spend most of the summer at their homes. The two former will make short visits to Washington whenever their presence is required. It is not definitely settled what day the Presidential party will leave Washington for New York, but it will be either Thursday or Friday of this week, most likely the latter day.

The Silver and Gold Question.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The Sun in a leader says: The present loan of gold to the Treasury by banks of this city was made expressly upon the assurance that the gold would be needed only until the meeting of Congress in December, and this is the general opinion of the bankers and merchants in this section of the country. The Sun thinks the facts of the past silver legislation and the prospects of future action of the House, founded on ascertained views of the members, justify the conclusion that any proposition looking to a stoppage of the coining of the silver dollar will meet the same fate in the new House that it did in the last one. An analysis of the House vote as at present constituted shows only 134 votes, at the outside, favoring the stoppage of silver coinage, which is thirty-nine less than necessary for a majority on a full vote.

A Monument to Montefiore.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Representatives of various Jewish congregations met last night for the purpose of perpetuating the memory of the late Sir Moses Montefiore. An organization was effected by the election of officers, and it was stated that $16,000 has already been subscribed toward the erection of a monument to the renowned philanthropist. It is intended to erect a monument or statue in Central Park.

About Manufactures.

Lately there has been much discussion in Los Angeles on the subject of manufactures. Two weeks ago a meeting of citizens was held, and a number of valuable papers, bearing on the questions of raw material, markets, power, fuel, etc., were read. The result of the meeting was the formation of an organization which, it is hoped, may accomplish something in the way of pointing out the opportunities for manufactures which exist here, and of inducing men of capital and experience to come and occupy the field. Whether the organization contemplates any manufacturing project as the direct result of its efforts, sustained by joint capital, we are not informed. But if its promoters expect to achieve the greatest measure of usefulness, they had better let joint-stock manufacturing alone. We have known several such companies started on contributed capital and public spirit, but we have not known one of them to be very successful;—at least not until it had passed out of the hands of the originators. The society for the promotion of manufactures has a legitimate field in exploring channels in which capital may be safely and profitably employed, and when it finds such a channel, it should proclaim the fact far and wide; should dwell upon this single topic and keep on striking the hot iron in the same place until some practical, moneyed man comes along to take its place at the forge. Then another field may be explored and another, each in turn abandoned to the specialist as soon as he presents himself. There is much to be gained by intelligent, public spirited action focused on one thing at a time.

The opposite of this course is to proclaim superficially that Los Angeles is, and by right ought to be, a great place for manufactures; that iron might be turned into rails and engines, cotton into fabrics, leather into shoes and, timber into furniture as advantageously here as in the great centers of manufacture, where these branches flourish. Such general declarations as these amount to nothing. A practical man would put attach a feather's weight to them. There is too much of this kind of "blowing" about our section. Grandiose declarations without sufficient basis in fact do a great deal more harm than good. This reflection we do not intend to apply to the society above alluded to, but it might be measurably taken to heart by one or two newspapers and some individuals.

The way to manufacture is to manufacture. That is the way old Horace Greeley would have put it. Without grasping at the infinite or diving after the unfathomable, the subject should be viewed solely in a business-like way. Let us first look about us. What natural or adapted products of the country have we to manufacture? What facilities do we enjoy for manufacturing them? Grain is produced in great quantity. And we have mills to grind it up. Fruits are grown extensively. There are driers, canneries and preserving works, which will doubtless grow with the supply and demand. Petroleum is produced in Los Angeles county, and it is also manufactured to some extent into burning fluids and lubricants. The cactus, which grows in unlimited quantity upon the outlying deserts, is susceptible of manufacture into fine paper. This is not manufactured here, but is reduced to pulp and shipped to England. Would not this channel bear investigation? As for the manufacture of leather, we see no advantages here over other localities. Ours is not a country of tan-bark or sumac. Once there was a leather manufactory here and it died. As for the manufacture of wooden articles or the reduction of ores, or the making of machinery, that becomes a question of cheap steam power to a great extent. Have we an unlimited supply of low-priced fuel? Assuredly not. Then we must wait until Providence or the development of the country brings such a supply to our doors, before we raise the beckoning finger to power-workers.

Ordinarily individual enterprise enjoys a keener scent and a more searching vision than public spirit. Before the public has become aware of a great opportunity, some lynx-eyed investor has generally searched it out. This may be relied upon, in a great measure, to unfold the inherent wealth of the country and utilize it as the demand, the time and the opportunities present themselves. We do not in any manner despair of Los Angeles becoming some day a great manufacturing center; but these industries must be founded upon a rock, which is already hereabout, either just above or just below the surface.

Stuart Stanley.

Stuart Stanley, the well-known traveler and soldier, came up from San Diego yesterday. In sympathy with all loyal souls, he grieves over Grant's death and, sitting at a desk in the TIMES office, he gave expression to his feelings in the beautiful poem "Grant's Monument," that appears at the head of our Memorial Column to-day. The lines have the genuine ring to them, and will be read at home and abroad, with gratitude to the stout-hearted Englishman who lays his tribute of affection at the feet our dead soldier.

The Monument of Grant.

I.

On Athos pile Olympus,
On Cheops let The Dome
That towers above the mighty shrine
Where Peter sleeps at Rome:
Right o'er the Cross, run up the Flag—
The Starry Banner plant:
For the Union is His Monument—
The Monument of Grant!

II.

His tomb shall yet a Mecca be,
Tho' no Mohamet there,
Nor Kaaba where are jabbered out
The Moslems' musty prayer;
But frowned from beyond the wave,
And those who would be free,—
Shall lean above the hero's grave,
And tell of him and Lee!

III.

And ever, at the noon of night,
When sleep her mantle flings
O'er this, the sacred land of light—
The land united by Kings;
His form shall pace, with measured tread,
The trails he fought so well,
And hold communion with the dead,
Who foremost, fighting, fell!

FORT STREET M. E. CHURCH.

Address by Rev. Bronson, Dr. J. P. Widney and Rev. H. M. Bovard.

The memorial services at the Fort street Methodist church Sunday morning were very largely attended, every seat in the body of the church and the gallery being filled. The church was handsomely draped and a large American flag occupied a prominent position in the rear of the pulpit. The pulpit itself was heavily draped and there were numerous floral decoration, including a large letter "G" in the center of the pulpit. After an opening hymn and prayer, the choir sang beautifully "How Sleep the Brave Who Sink to Rest," after which addressed the congregation. He said the services were to honor the dead hero, General Grant. Great men have died, but the nation has not always wept. There is a certain greatness which does not always reach the popular heart, but with Grant it was different. He was a man of the people, who had to struggle in early life for his maintenance. He was a born leader, enabled under the providence of God to lead the people of this country to a new era.

The people soon discovered qualities in him which endeared him to their hearts, and his death has caused a nation to bow in sorrow. Three men have fallen in this country during the past two decades for whom the nation has wept. Lincoln, Garfield and Grant will ever live in the hearts of the people, for in them were discovered the elements of true greatness. A French soldier was wounded severely during one of the wars of Napoleon, and the surgeon was compelled to cut deep into his breast. "Ah, doctor," he said, as the wound was probed, "if you had cut a little deeper you would have found the Emperor." So the people have Grant in their hearts, and his glorious memory will live forever. It should be remembered that Grant owned a much of his moral character to his family. A dear friend of the speaker, a Dr. Dimmick, was for a long time the pastor of the General and mother of Mrs. Grant. During the dark days of the war he visited them and the father met him at the door with the exclamation: "Oh, brother, pray for Ulysses." It is because Grant was in accord with the moral sentiment of the great body of Christian people that now the sentiment of grief is so deeply felt by them all through the land. The greatness of Grant has found expression in every part of this land and all animosity seems to have passed away as he lies so near the grave.

addressed the congregation, saying: "It is a strange thing to see a nation in mourning. When a king dies, the people are ordered to mourn, but in this case all hearts are sad, and yet we cannot say that every place in this country is draped in mourning. Why is this exhibition of sorrow? Because a man has died who has filled an important part in the history of the nation, and because he was pre-eminently a man of the people. The greatest lesson of his life seems to have been his conscientious fulfillment of duty. He was a true holiday soldier. Many of the officers who participated in the war seized upon the opportunity for military and political advancement. Grant did not belong to this class. He was one of the first to fight and help to crush a great rebellion and he did his duty conscientiously. However much men may be vilified if they show a determination and ability to accomplish what they are given to do, the people will find it out. Grant could not defend himself, he had no time to. His works speak for themselves. There was another man on the other side," said the speaker, "for whom I have always felt kindly, believing that he was honest in his intentions. That man was Gen. Robert E. Lee. I have always wished that he could have seen his duty differently."

One other lesson from the career of Grant may be learned, and that is that God invariably finds the man for his work in the time of the war. The real purpose of the war was to destroy slavery. Had the rebellion been crushed the first or second year of the war, slavery would have remained, to cause constant trouble for the nation. Until the Emancipation Proclamation was issued there was much to discourage the Union people, but after the 1st of January, 1863, came the sweeping victories, Gettysburg, Vicksburg—and Grant.

The speaker closed with brief reference to the career of General Grant after the war and his patient endurance of his painful illness and his earnest noble efforts to provide for the maintainance of his family. "Grant," concluded Dr. Widney, "was undoubtedly a sincerely good man. When he was nearing the end he wrote a few lines, simply saying: 'If it be God's will that I go I go without murmuring.'"

After the choir had sung "Beyond the Smiling and the Weeping," briefly addressed the audience. He said that there seem to be two ways of protecting great men in this country. Some rise slowly in the estimation of the people, others show their good qualities suddenly, as is the case frequently in war; Grant was absolutely a great man. He saved the nation. By saying this, it must not be inferred that other men might not have saved the nation but General Grant did save it. It might well be written of him—he might well have said, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith." The speaker dwelt to some extent on the characteristics of Grant and why he was truly great, closing with an eloquent eulogy of the great leader.

REV. M. M. BOVARD

The Church of the Unity.

Bryson Hall was packed with an appreciative and sympathetic audience, yesterday morning, memorial services in honor of General Grant having been previously announced. After the solemn organ voluntary and a hymn, Dr. Fay read the fifty-third Psalm and delivered an impressive and touching prayer. Then followed a beautiful voluntary by the choir.

Judge W. A. Cheney then spoke for twenty minutes, eloquently and with much feeling, often moving the audience to tears. He defined genius, and success fully defended Grant's claim to the highest genius as a soldier and the most exalted virtues as a man. He placed General Grant in the immortal trio, Washington, Lincoln and Grant, and confidently appealed to the future to justify it. Alluding to his call to the head of the army as Lieutenant General, he spoke of Sherman's friendly letter to him, and read the following extract from it, showing the estimate in which Grant was held by those who knew him best:

I believe you are as brave, patriotic and just as the great prototype Washington; as unselfish, kind-hearted and honest as a man should be; but the chief characteristic is the simple faith in success that you have always manifested, which I can liken to nothing else than the faith that a Christian has in the Savior. My only doubt was in regard to your knowledge of grand tactics and the science of war, but I must confess that your common-sense has supplied all these.

Judge Cheney's address was replete with eloquent tribute to the dead soldier, and was received with much favor by all present.

Colonel E. H. Boyce spoke of General Grant's early service, his offer of himself in any capacity in which he might be needed, and of the way he won his first regiment.

The speaker described what is considered by soldiers as Grant's most brilliant campaign,—that around and in the rear of Vicksburg, undertaken against the advice of all his generals, but which resulted in an overwhelming victory. He then spoke briefly of Grant's foresight, magnanimity, silence, modesty, his wonderful memory and his intellect, emphasizing his veracity and love of truth and his loyalty to his friends as his chief characteristics. The speaker alluded to Grant's charity for the acts and resolutions of others and of his love of and generosity to the old soldiers, and closed as follows: "Invincible soldier! True patriot! Faithful friend! Thou hast gone on to thy reward. The great heart of the nation throbs pain fully at the portals of thy tomb."

Dr. Fay followed with a carefully prepared address on "True Greatness. In strong, well-chosen words he went on to point out the qualities that constituted true greatness, and when he had pictured the ideal character he showed clearly in how many respects Grant came up to the full standard of it.

Dr. Fay's address was able, candid and just, but without laudation, and deeply impressed his audience.

Then followed a beautiful hymn (written, except the third verse, by Dr. Fay) and then the benediction, and the large audience passed out, tenderly gazing on the handsome portrait of the great General which hung over the platform.

At the Congregational Church, appropriate memorial services were held, and the large audience listened with deep interest to the discourse of the pastor, Rev. A. J. Wells, from the text, "Better is the end of a thing than the beginning thereof, and the patient in spirit is better than the proud in spirit." Eccle. 7, 8.

The pastor showed that our life here is a plan of God, in divine gift enabling somewhat of the giver. Every step of true life is an advance to something better, and the end when it comes is by contrast better than the beginning. There is a generally accepted feeling that the end of a career gives character to it all. The rule of judgment seems to be this, that as true life has a law of progress at the heart of it, if the closing years are honorable to manhood and harmonious with the heart of Almighty God, the life is a successful life; while if a life of usefulness and honor falls into sin and shame, the unnatural close of such a life has power to blot out the better days that went before. The end stamps the career.

Now, in the light of this principle we stand beside the form of our fallen commander and feel that a true and noble life had a worthy close. It began in weakness, it was marred for a time by weakness and defect, it grew into power, and then was flushed as the noblest lives of all ages have been flushed, in the Refiner's fire, and the "end was better than the beginning thereof."

The pastor justly claimed that "the minister of the Prince of Peace may consistently offer his tribute to the man of war, as often war is the only highway of a nation's progress, and the successful leader is the incarnation of deliverance, the God-created instrument for the uplifting of a nation's life.

Now, whence comes a nation? By the path of suffering. Human sacrifice builds it. It grows by gift of thought and toil and life. England, Germany, America have emerged from the long storms of the past. So valuable have national ideas been that for all the good the world possesses there have been centuries of strife.

If then, a great nation like our own has come out of storm, then there must be in its history men to whom we are specially indebted. "Heroism," Carlyle has said, "is that divine relation which in all times relates a great man to other men;" and we owe a debt of honor and a debt of gratitude to that great man, whose loss we mourn to-day The heroes of the nation are the foundation of our nationality, and if God has given this man a supreme place in our later national history, it is because he wrought for us a supreme work.

First among his noble qualities, the speaker dwelt upon the Manliness of Grant. He said: "It is not extravagant to say, that in no leader of this century ago, was this special element of nature, habitual, governing manliness, more marked than in General Grant. There was in him a rare union of moral force with genial sympathy, modesty, tenderness and courage."

He had also the repose of genius in the assurance of results. He never doubted his own judgment; he was never persuaded he availed himself of the suggestions of others, but his great determinations were his own, and once made, he gave himself no anxiety about the judgment of the decision. This calmness engendered composure, and was one secret of his courage and of the steadiness of his purpose through the horrible losses and sacrifices of his campaigns. It was this that made him a leader. Men recognized a force which emergencies could not startle, which compelled his antagonists in the field to feel that it was useless to struggle against a man with the determination of fate itself."

There are times when the true leaders of a nation becomes the nation's embodied self. So this man stood during the nation's fierce trial in the closing years of the war—the very embodiment of that indomitable purpose to save the Union, which counted all things but loss, save the excellency of the glory of an unbroken republic, the noblest expression of that fervent patriotism which, in the hour of our country's need, rolled a moral billow along the line of the combined and unhinged in the track of its tremendous dash, the one gigantic rebellion of the ages.

He will stand in history beside Napoleon, his equal in resources, his superior in all that makes the man. He will stand beside Garibaldi, the Italian ideal of patriotic devotion, and the unshaken prophet of Italian unity. He will stand beside Charles XII of Sweden in defiance of difficulty and contempt of danger; in indifference to ease, in self-reliance, in certainty of judgment, in immutable determination, in the quality that dominates events as well as men. Beside William the Silent in the quality of self-control, in the ability to hold his tongue when it was not wisdom to speak, in gentleness and kindness, in personal excellence, in heroic courage and unconquerable determination; beside Von Moltke in modesty under unexampled success and in sustained energy, in persistent purpose, in great combinations and far-reaching plans, and in the power to strike rapidly and resistlessly. Beside the Iron Duke in indomitable defiance of the foe, in calmness and coolness in the midst of danger.

At the close of his remarks, of which is here given but a mere outline, the speaker said:

Of the religious life I have left myself no time to speak. The supreme question is not what a man thinks and feels, but what he does. The essential element in every man's life will be his deeds. * * * To do faithfully the one good thing which the passionate heart of man and the Providence which directs the affairs of this little world indicates that he was created to do, is the true way to live. Let a man be steadfast and true on the side of right and justice and humanity, regardful of duty, and life will be directed by a purpose, inspired by enthusiasm and nurtured into moral grandeur. * * * Our dead General was all this, and to fidelity to fellow-men and country on the grandest scale he added a humble trust in God his Savior, and the Angel of Death casting over him his white robe and whispering peace found him at the very nearest point to heaven.

A Modest Disclaimer.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: I am very kind indeed, to publish in Sunday's Times the order of the day of the Unity, and in connection with it, the hymn used on the occasion. But I have that it was your purpose in any I wrote the hymn, I should have stated that the stand verse, excepting alterations, the better to adapt it to the occasion, was written by James Montgomery. Thanking you heartily for numerous kindnesses, I remain, Very sincerely, ELI FAY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Government bonds are dull and steady with unchanged quotations.

This has been an extremely dull day on Wall street. The fluctuations in stocks in any one case were insignificant. One of the most noticeable features, however, was developed by Northern Pacific preferred, which, in connection with the Oregon Railway and Navigation, rose one and one-half per cent. at one time during the forenoon, on the strength of last week, while Northern Pacific preferred closed with a gain of one per cent. Denver and Rio Grande, Kansas Pacific and Navigation Co. were the best of the list was heavy and dull to the last, by St. Paul and Vandervilt. This was followed by a rally which caused quotations in many cases to the highest figures of the day; but New York Central, Lake Shore, Lackawanna saw the highest prices at the opening, and Michigan and New Jersey Central late in the afternoon. During the last hour there was a slow yielding of prices, which left values in the close for most of other stocks than those mentioned from ¼ to ⅝ per cent. below Saturday's final figures. The transactions of the day reached active stocks show fractional fluctuations of more than 1¼ per cent., with few exceptions they are less than 1 per cent.

CATARRH!

And Consumption are Caused by Atmospheric Germs, Which Develop into Parasites. These Diseases are

Scientifically Treated By

W. N. DAVIS, M. D., M. C. P. S. O.

Graduate of "Chicago Homœopathic College," Chicago, and "College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario," Canada.

HOMŒOPATHIC SPECIALIST of Diseases of Ear, Nose, Throat, Chest, and all Chronic Diseases.

CATARRH

Is caused by the presence of parasites, microscopical in size, in the mucous membranes. The germs are deposited from the air and become more readily developed and increase more rapidly in systems debilitated from any cause, as in scrofulous subjects and in those suffering from a hyperæmic or torpid liver, which causes the blood to become impoverished.

The catarrh is first located in the anterior part of the nose and the patient seems to have a cold in the head, from which he is supposed ever free. This gradually extends to the posterior nares and mucous is expelled, especially in the morning, from the throat. But in rare cases there is no discharge, a dry sensation in the nostrils alone being present.

In time the mucous membrane becomes thickened, so that respiration through the nose is difficult or impossible. Often the germs are deposited directly into the throat and lungs. This stage of the disease will be attended by a hacking cough or simply a disposition to clear the throat. Sometimes the germs will lie dormant for years until such time as the lungs become in a fit condition for their development. This condition may be the result of a severe cold or any debilitating cause, when the germs have to multiply and produce its kind. Then colds do not pass off as other colds have done and we have a case of Chronic Bronchitis or Catarrh of the Lungs, which is often mistaken for consumption and may pass into that disease if not arrested.

Our treatment consists in using such remedies, either in spray or inhalation, as will destroy these germs or parasites, soften the mucous in the lungs and facilitate expectoration. This gives constitutional medicines a chance to build up the system and our mild climate can better exert its curative influences. This climate is now very much appreciated by eastern people, but there is always danger of a relapse until the cause is removed. Nasal Catarrh is frequently cured with from one to four applications of medicine. Every lung disease can be cured if taken in time and in hopeless cases life can be prolonged and comfort given in the patient.

Simple Nasal Catarrh and pharyngitis can be treated at a distance by writing for a list of questions, but if lungs are involved an examination at office is necessary.

Consultation and Examination Free.

The following testimonial of a gentleman well known in Los Angeles, who has a law office at 45½ North Spring street, will show how quickly catarrh can be cured:

This is to certify that I am a regularly qualified physician, but not practicing, and have always believed catarrh of the chronic nasal variety to be an incurable affliction, but hearing of Dr. W. N. Davis' new treatment and his success, I applied to him for medicine and was astonished to find in the case of one of my friends, and did so with the most satisfactory results, as improvement was immediate, and one prescription effected a cure. The case was of years' standing and of a very severe type. I can recommend Dr. Davis to those similarly afflicted. S. HALEY, M. D.

How It Happened.

Will Beach, formerly proprietor of the Sixth street roller-coaster, explains the accident to Tom Harrity, Saturday, by stating that Tom was not sitting on the seat, but on the forward arm of the coaster, swinging his feet over the back of the car. When within about thirteen feet of the stopping place, his foot caught between the back of the car and the guard. Young Harrity is known throughout the neighborhood as a wild boy, and he was riding on the coaster without leave when his carelessness caused him to get hurt.

WAS IT MURDER?

Dave Sanchez Shoots His Brother Sunday Evening.

THE BULLET CAUSES INSTANT DEATH.

A Claim that the Shooting Was Accidental—Result of the Inquest—Whisky, as Usual, to Blame—Interview with the Prisoner.

About 7 o'clock Sunday evening the sound of a pistol shot aroused the people on Upper Main street, near its junction with Main. Investigation showed that the pistol shot was fired in No. 8, a house occupied by the Sanchez family, and that José Sanchez had been killed by a shot fired from a pistol in the hands of his brother, David Sanchez, the bullet passing through his head, causing almost instant death. David Sanchez, after he saw what he had done, left the house, but was soon afterwards captured by Officers Smith, Gowan and Jones and locked up in jail. At about 10 o'clock yesterday the Coroner summoned a jury and held an inquest at the late residence of the deceased. The dead man lay on a stretcher in the room where the inquest was held, a ghastly wound in his head, from which the blood had evidently gushed freely.

THE INQUEST.

The first witness summoned was F. Dillon, who testified that he saw José Sanchez, the deceased, shortly before the shooting. He was standing at the door between six and seven o'clock in the evening. He saw an old gentleman standing in the doorway, and some one on the inside closed the door, catching the latter's fingers in the frame. Afterwards the door was opened by David Sanchez. He had a revolver in his hand and told the old gentleman to come in. He did so and the door was closed. That was all the witness saw before the shooting took place. He heard some vulgar expressions in Spanish used. The shot was fired in the back yard. Next a young man came and fell dead at his side—probably John Sanchez. Witness saw nothing more except the man lying dead in the yard, and did not see Dave Sanchez until fifteen or twenty minutes later when he saw him in the house and heard him exclaim, "I killed him and that's the end of it." Witness heard only one shot fired and thinks he would have heard it if there had been another fired. There were no weapons in the hands of the deceased. He was lying on his back with his left hand under him.

JOHN SANCHEZ,

a cousin of the deceased, testified at considerable length. In brief, he stated that the two men, Dave and José Sanchez, were struggling for the possession of a pistol, when it went off, killing José. Dave Sanchez had been to the picnic at the Arroyo Seco, and came home considerably intoxicated. According to the witness, he could scarcely stand on his feet. Dave came into the house, went to the wardrobe, and took out a pistol. There were in the house at the time besides Dave, José and John Sanchez, Mrs. Sanchez, and two women, Mrs. Cornelia Foley and Louise Carrillo. When the women saw the trouble, they went outside, and John was the sole witness of the affray. Seeing Dave with the pistol the witness tried to take it from him, knowing that the man was drunk. He (Dave) broke from him and went where José was, when the struggle commenced. Witness did not hear what was said at first, but saw that both men had hold of the pistol, and it went off, the ball passing through José's head and then penetrating the coat of the witness. The witness further stated that the men had had no quarrel, and were on perfectly friendly terms. They slept in the same room, but not in the same bed. Witness had never seen Dave Sanchez drunk before. José was perfectly sober at the time. Witness, thinking he was wounded, did not stop to see what became of Dave after the shooting. Witness saw no old man come in at the front door as was testified by the preceding witness. The weapon used was a self-cocking, double-action, Colt's revolver. Both revolver and bullet were identified by the witness.

DR. J. S. BAKER

Testified that he was called to attend upon the wounded man and found him lying in the back yard, pulseless, gasping, and within a few minutes of his death. The cause of his death was a bullet wound through his forehead. The face was much powder-burned, showing that the revolver was close to his face when fired.

MRS. SOLEDAD SANCHEZ, mother of José and Dave Sanchez, was sworn and testified that Dave came home Sunday evening, and after remaining a time, went to the wardrobe. Did not see him take a pistol. At this point Mrs. Sanchez fainted and was unable to testify further.

LOUISE CARRILLO,

a flashy looking girl, who laughed considerably while she gave her testimony, said she saw Dave Sanchez when he came home. He said "Hello, Louise," and took her by the arm. Mrs. Foley, Mrs. Sanchez, Chonita Sanchez and herself were in the room, and Dave sat down for a while, and then got up and took off his coat as if to wash his hands. He did not seem to her to be at all drunk, or, to use her own language, "He talk to me as nice as ever." She left the house and apparently every thing was all right. Twenty minutes later she heard of the shooting and came back to the house.

MRS. CORNELIA FOLEY

testified substantially the same as the preceding witness. She believed Dave to be under the influence of liquor. His mother tried to get him to go to bed but he would not go. The three women were in the next house when the shooting occurred.

OFFICER S. A. GOWEN

testified that he heard the report of a pistol and saw the crowd running to Upper Main street. He described the finding of the body as the others had. Learning that Dave Sanchez had done the killing he looked for him and found him in the back room. He arrested him and turned him over to Officer Smith. Sanchez said: "I did not do the shooting; he shot himself." He was somewhat under the influence of liquor and much excited when arrested.

THE VERDICT.

The examination of the witnesses was concluded by District Attorney Holton, and when they had all testified he drew up the following verdict, which was handed to the jurors, and being approved was signed by them:

We, the undersigned, find that the deceased, José Juan Sanchez, was a native of California, seventeen years of age, and that he came to his death on the 2d day of August by reason of a bullet wound in his forehead and through his brain, from a pistol in the hands of David Sanchez. (Signed) Wm. Fallon, A. C. Gobb, W. C. Holland, R. M. Pratt, W. S. Barton, E. C. Elliott, C. H. McElroy, R. Martin, E. T. Trofatter, J. W. Price, J. D. Stein.

AN INTERVIEW WITH THE PRISONER.

A TIMES reporter, after the inquest, visited David Sanchez in the county jail and had a few minutes' conversation with him. David is a slim young fellow, twenty years old, with not a very prepossessing look. "Did you shoot your brother intentionally?" was the first query.

"No, I did not," replied the prisoner. "He tried to take the pistol from me and it went off."

"What were you doing with the pistol?"

"I was going to take it out and pawn it. I wanted to get some money, and I thought I could raise a dollar or two."

"You had been drinking, had you not?"

"Yes; I was pretty full, I suppose."

"Had you any quarrel with your brother?"

"No, none at all. He wanted to get the pistol away from me, and it went off—that's all."

Dave inquired with some anxiety what people thought of his case, and how the witnesses testified, and seemed much relieved when informed that nothing positive had been developed yet. He was then led back to his cell.

GENERAL NOTES.

Dave and José Sanchez are brothers of the notorious Anita Sanchez, who has so often figured in the courts.

The general opinion seems to be that it will be difficult to prove a case against Sanchez, as the testimony of witnesses is very contradictory.

The body of José Sanchez will be interred in the Catholic Cemetery.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Preparations for Next Saturday's Solemn Tribute to Grant.

The general committees on services in honor of General Grant's funeral met in the Mayor's court room last evening. Nearly every society and organization in the city had its delegates present, and the gathering numbered a full hundred. Captain A. M. Thornton was made chairman of the meeting and Professor J. M. Gunn secretary. Remarks brief but full of admiration and love for the great departed were made by a large number of gentlemen. It was resolved as the sense of the meeting that there be a full military funeral; that all business men of the city be requested to close their places of business at noon on the day of the funeral, in case it is decided to hold the procession in the afternoon or, if the procession be fixed for the morning, that they close correspondingly early. A resolution was also passed asking Council to appropriate $500 and the Board of Supervisors $750 for the expenses of the occasion, and citing as precedent therefor the action taken at the time of Garfield's funeral. The following special committee was appointed to carry out the details agreed upon:

Geo. E. Gard, President; P. F. Kelly, Secretary; Walter S. Moore, Bernard Cohn, Dr. L. W. French, W. Stevens, A. L. Bath, J. Castruccio, Frank R. Day, Chas. M. Fairbanks, R. J. Pernell, Chas. E. Miles, Grand Marshal Horace Bell's order appointing his staff will be found elsewhere. The meeting adjourned till 8 o'clock to-night.

BUFFINGTON'S DEATH.

How the Fatal Discharge Chanced to Occur.

Coroner McFarland and a jury held an inquest at Orange, Saturday, on the body of Grant Buffington, whose accidental death while loading one barrel of his gun was noted by the TIMES. John Fletcher, of North Orange, testified that he was out hunting rabbits and quail with the deceased, who fired at some quail and missed. Young Buffington then commenced to load his double-barreled gun. The gun fell in Fletcher's hands fell, and hit the hammer of Buffington's gun, which exploded, Buffington cried "Oh!" and died instantly. The verdict was that the unfortunate lad came to his death by the accidental discharge of a shotgun in his own hands. Jury: M. F. March, M. Stone, Henry Watson, John R. Paul, R. P. Ruffel, W. Bryson, W. C. Bush, R. C. Harris.

WILLIAM DAVID ELLIS.

His Sudden Death at Home Yesterday Morning.

Wm. D. Ellis, aged 48 years, and son of Hon. Asa Ellis, died very suddenly at his home, near Savannah, yesterday. He had complained of feeling ill, and slept on the lounge Sunday night. At some very early hour he arose and went to the barn. It was still early morning when his wife went out, and found him dead by the hay-mow. The cause of his death is supposed to have been heart disease. An inquest will be held this morning by Coroner McFarland. Mr. Ellis was born in Missouri. He leaves a wife and one child. To-morrow his remains will be laid away in the Evergreen Cemetery.

Heart Disease.

W. W. Wilson, a native of Ohio, 47 years of age, died very suddenly at 7:30 yesterday morning in D. F. Donegan's stable, on Los Angeles street between First and Second. Heart disease is given as the cause of his death. The matter was investigated at Brown's undertaking rooms yesterday by Coroner McFarland and the following jury: A. S. Russell, F. C. Woodbury, James Mayes, Herman Willert, Leo Riley, James M. Wolfe, E. T. Miller. The verdict was in accordance with the above facts. Wilson had been driving a street sprinkling cart for Mr. Donegan; and it is believed that he was an ex-soldier. His remains will lie at Brown's for identification, for several days, and it is hoped to learn where he belongs.

BRIEFS.

Five arrests Sunday.

The Board of Education meets to-night.

The Los Angeles sails north to-morrow.

These are restless times for the Coroner.

W. Gunther and H. Brohm yesterday received license to wed.

The Santa Rosa carried 108 passengers north from this city yesterday.

The Sunday school convention at Santa Monica, Sunday, was large and a success.

The house No. 106 West Third street is being moved upon the corner lot next east.

The switch of the cable road on Second street, between Hill and Olive, is complete.

A buggy was overturned at the corner of Main and Arcadia streets, at 10 a. m. yesterday.

The Normal School and the St. Vincent's College began their fall term yesterday.

A dog, alleged to show signs of madness, was killed in the TIMES folding-room yesterday.

The examination of Miss Louise C. Perkins before Court Commissioner Baxter is being continued.

Work on the new city market is at a practical standstill, some of the timber being slow in coming.

One death in the country and two in the city, Sunday; two in the country and two in the city yesterday.

Seven hundred tickets for Santa Monica were sold at the old depot Sunday, besides over 300 at the new depot.

Miss Eliza Madegan, long connected with our public schools, and well known here, died suddenly on Sunday.

David Sanchez, the fratricide, was brought before Justice Ramsey yesterday, and was committed without bail.

The unsightly fence in front of the Sheriff's office has been removed, and a concrete sidewalk is to be laid.

Steps are at last being taken to improve the Long Beach reservoir, and to supply the town through four-inch water pipes.

Rev. M. M. Bovard lectured interestingly in the pavilion at Long Beach Sunday evening, on "Anglo-Saxon Civilization."

The announcement that the open season for quail had begun, was premature. Under the game laws of California the season in which it is permissible to shoot quail is only between October 1st and March 1st. Deer may be popped over from July 1st to November 1st.

The Evening Union got in a most unmerciful "scoop" on its rival the Express yesterday. It came out with a full account of the killing of José Sanchez, the drowning of Pedro Noriega and the afternoon news in general, three or four hours ahead of the Express.

Messrs. Olds, White, Spencer, Plank, Wilgus, Smith, Haas and Pullman, who went down to Santa Monica Sunday on their bicycles, had a pleasant time, though baffling headwinds and bad roads spoiled their record. They will "wheel it" to Pomona next Saturday.

Mr. Lighthall, of the proposed cable road to Pasadena, states that he will remain in the city until surveys are made and work actually begins. This, he thinks should be within a fortnight. He will then run over to Kansas City to attend to a cable road there and be back soon to push matters here.

A STRANGE SUICIDE.

Death of Pedro Noriega at Santa Monica Sunday.

Pedro Noriega, the well-known batter of 35 North Main street, went down to Santa Monica Sunday morning. He had been taking absinthe considerably during the week, and had hinted on several occasions to friends, in a way supposed by them to be joking, that he might die soon. He told Frank Oakley recently that he was going to drown himself. He rambled about during the day, and was seen by many who noted that he was very much under the influence of stimulants. At about 6 o'clock he took his dinner at Henry Lecroq's French restaurant. His lodging and breakfast were paid for in advance. Mr. Lecroq last saw him alive at 10:30, sound asleep in his room. At some unknown hour in the night he rose and went out. At about 5:30 a. m. he was seen in the surf, bathing, but no attention was paid to him. At 6:45 he was found drowned opposite Colonel
